February 2017

Dear Parents and Students in grades 9, 10, and 11:

Planning courses is one of the most important aspects of the academic year. During February and March, students will meet with their guidance counselors to review teacher recommendations and select next year's courses. Teachers consider many factors when making academic level recommendations, including: student mindset, assessment performance, class participation, engagement in coursework and consistency in completing assignments. Likewise, families should consider a number of factors when selecting courses, including: student interests, overall course load, short and long-term goals, college and career plans, time demands and stress management issues.

Northern Valley students can enjoy the extensive range of our greatly expanded courses from which to choose – across all educational levels and in both academic and Related Arts areas. We have significantly increased dual-enrollment course offerings, introduced more independent study options and offer early college enrollment for seniors. With our recent adjustment to the master schedule, nearly all students are able to schedule eight courses each year. We believe the additional course choices offer a range of opportunities for a variety of student needs, such as taking an academic challenge, exploring career interests, developing an avocation, learning a new skill, relieving stress, qualifying for special college programs. We strongly encourage all students to consider this option for their own personalized needs. That being said, scheduling is a very individualized process to be considered in the context of the student's goals, interests, commitments and responsibilities. We appreciate that taking an additional course may not be an appropriate choice for all students. Parents have the opportunity to request that their student remain at 7 courses.

With all of these exciting opportunities, we urge all parents and students to engage actively in researching their courses. You are strongly encouraged to access the scheduling resources on our Guidance Department homepage, including: The Program of Studies, Course Selection Sheets, Four-Year Academic Framework and Career Pathways. Parents and students are also urged to attend our Program of Studies Nights on February 8, 2017 at 6:45pm in NV Old Tappan or February 9, 2017 at 6:45pm in NV Demarest, where we will review the scheduling process, program offerings, graduation requirements, the waiver process, and other scheduling topics. Please research our offerings and discuss course planning with your child. Parents are welcome to contact the student's counselor directly at 201-768-3200 (extensions listed below), and they are also welcome to attend the scheduling conferences. All course selections must be completed by March 24, 2017 and no schedule changes can be guaranteed after that date.

While teachers make level recommendations with the student's best interest in mind, a waiver process allows for the appeal of these recommendations. Students not recommended for certain Honors/Advanced Placement classes may qualify to use up to two waivers if they meet specific criteria and follow outlined procedures. We invite families to use this process only after careful consideration. Parent AND student must attend a mandatory waiver meeting on either March 22, 2017 in NV Demarest or March 23, 2017 in NV Old Tappan if they are considering using a waiver. Waivers must be signed and returned to the guidance office by March 24, 2017. (See reverse side of this letter for further details of the waiver process and of specific waiver meeting times.)

Sincerely,
